

verynicethreads

Home About Fair trade Organic Recycled Upcycled fashion Vintage

Sustainable fashion chic

Posted on 29 November 2011 by Christine de León

This is Veronica Crespi, a London-based fashion consultant. She is the brains and beauty behind ReWardrobe, a slow fashion consultancy that offers a personal styling service on the one hand, but on the other, she works with brands to help them gain exposure. Veronica recently put together the first-ever platform showcasing Italian sustainable fashion designers.

I love the jumpsuit she is wearing. It is soft and feminine but so very chic all at the same time. The statement necklace she tells me is from the Marylebone Market and the woman who sells them makes them out of reclaimed metal and found objects.